The Legislature Hums Itself in Getting Ready to Put up or Shut up.
(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

FRANKFORT, June 17.

After a long delay and as the clown would say on entering the circus ring, "here we come."

This has been a pretty eventful week from a legislative standpoint. On Monday, the 12th, the House adopted the Senate resolution for a sine die adjournment, amended to read July 3 instead of June 15, and it is believed the people of Kentucky will have just reasons for celebrating the 4th. That the main work of the constitutional convention and this protracted session is at last in due form to bear fruit matured, of which they may begin to pluck and eat and know from experience for what they have been paying. It has cost much, but the benefits derived are more than commensurate with the outlay, and in the near future blessings are in store for those who assisted in the arduous work.

Our secret ballot system alone is worth to the people of Kentucky this expenditure, leaving aside our revenue law, corporation and many important new laws and others much improved.

Our redistricting is not what Eastern

Kentucky should have had on a fair, unbiased and unprejudiced apportionment, but is a very considerable improvement. Eastern Kentucky is republican and it seems that the other portions of the State almost as much as any,

"we don't care," but Eastern Kentucky democracy would like to be given a chance to show what it is composed.

It is soon to come to the front as a revenue paying locality and democracy should be given an opportunity to reclaim it from war prejudice. Eastern Kentucky is much indebted to the gallant representative from Madison for heroic efforts made in its behalf, as they successful or unsuccessful; efforts promoted by a spirit of fairness and a true desire to see an undeveloped section made to bloom like the rose and democratic principles prevail. I can't mention all the grand efforts made by other worthy sons, but but suffice it to say it is the best they could get.

Wednesday the capital removal proposition was under consideration most of the session, the fight being begun and kept up in a desultory way by skirmishing all along the line upon points of order and questions of information, appeals from the decisions of the chair, &c., working excitement to a fever heat.

Yesterday the vote came on Mr. Myers' resolution while in committee of the whole, taking the vote between the cities of Lexington, Danville, Louisville and Bowling Green, dropping the hindmost on each ballot. Bowling Green went down first, Danville next and Lexington next, leaving the vote to come in the House on the question of whether the capital would go to Louisville or not and the nor prevailed by a good round majority leaving Frankfort in undisputed possession and safe to say the happiest little city in the Commonwealth.

Last night the city was lighted with bonfires and the band serenaded those who voted for and championed their cause.

Speaker Moore and Mr. Pettit, Messrs.

O'neale, Bailey, Hanks, McElroy, Hay and several others responded to the call of the serenaders from the balcony of the Capital Hotel in happy speeches.

Mr. Krieger, of Louisville, surrendered his captors in a nice little speech and bowed to the will of the majority.

The Louisville charter was amended to conform with the governor's notion and the constitution and passed by the House yesterday and is now ready for enrollment.

And this Legislature is almost ready to surprise the editor of the INTERIOR JOURNAL by a sine die adjournment.

The I. J. Business Manager in Virginia.

The trip from Stanford to Richmond, Va., has been written up so often that I am almost ashamed to refer to it again, but bear with me while I burden you with a few notes picked up en route here and I will be very grateful indeed.

A trip to my old home in Virginia is always looked forward to with joyful anticipation to me and a little later on in the merry month of June I had promised myself that pleasure.

In addition to a sister (who was in my younger days both sister and mother to me), her family and many relatives and friends, there were in the "Old Dominion" an "old lady" and a "young lady" whom I had learned to like very much, I thank you, and I had pictured many a time in mind the happiness a visit to them would bring to me. While I indulged in these thoughts I did not for an instant think of being called by telegram to come, but I was, nevertheless. Mrs. "E. C. W." was ill, but thanks to the Giver of all good and perfect gifts, she was not seriously so, and when I reached her bedside Friday afternoon I found her rapidly convalescing.

The trip here was not an altogether delightful one, but was not without a few pleasing incidents. In the first place I got wet driving to Junction City; secondly, the C. S. train was 1½ hours late and thirdly, the engine broke an eccentric at Burgin and we were compelled to stop along from that point to Lexington at a gait hardly as rapid as that of the noted "K. C." The C. & O. train was due to leave at 6:10 p. m. and it was exactly 6:05 when we pulled into Lexington, giving me only five minutes to get to the C. & O. depot. I knew I could not make it by either car or bus, but good luck began to come my way and a colored man with a "whipped" horse and badly used up buggy agreed to get me there in time. Up and down streets we went in a rapid gallop, but before the depot was reached we were halted by a "cop," who informed us that unless we drove slower we would be fined, and we were necessarily obliged to tone down a little. The depot was reached just as the bell cord was pulled to start and exhausted and excited I dropped into a Pullman. The rest of the journey was as pleasant as it could be under the circumstances and I formed several very pleasant acquaintances indeed.

The F. F. V. train over the C. & O. Route has been described to you more than once and a further mention of it from this lowly pen might produce a "tired" feeling to the many readers of the original "cheapest and best." It is a grand train, to say the least, and goes through the mountains of Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia so fast it almost makes one's head swim.

You have also been told about the sublime and picturesque scenery to be seen on this route, but you will agree with me that "the half has never been told," should it ever be your good fortune to travel over the C. & O. road.

I was in Richmond for only a couple of hours and the rain was coming down in torrents and as a consequence I saw very little of that city. I am told that it is rapidly growing, however, and that notwithstanding the stringency of the money market, she is keeping pace with the times and may be considered just a little in the lead of the average Southern city. The new City Hall, which cost about $1,500,000, is almost completed and is a building of which the capital of the Confederacy is justly proud. I hope to have the pleasure of a stay in Richmond and the further pleasure of telling our readers about the grand city, whose history would fill volume after volume of intensely interesting reading.

My brother-in-law, Mr. I. N. Vaughan, at whose house we are most pleasantly situated, has, since my last visit to the old home, moved to a beautiful farm within a short walk of Ashland. He is still in business in Richmond and plays the dual role of tobacconist and farmer, going to Richmond every day, but returning in the afternoon in time to see his farm duties. In my farming days in Old Virginia it was not considered a remunerative business, but with him it seems to be. Although in the slates, he has threshed 30 bushels of wheat and 60 of oats to the acre. His corn is silking and the garden is indeed a thing of beauty, while the various crops are looking splendidly and give promise to make an unusually large yield.

Ashland is a pretty town on the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potowmack R. R., about 15 miles from Richmond, and is the residence place of a great many Richmond people. There are some 800 inhabitants and it is here that the well-known Randolph Macon College is located. Many an eminent Virginian has matriculated here, while graduates of the grand old institution of learning have filled and are now filling some of the most important offices of the land. Ashland is a delightful place to live, particularly during the heated season and is quite a summer resort. Real estate is high and a good deal of building is being done, but fortunately she has had no boom yet.

—The pension office is issuing certificates at the rate of 265 a day. Under Raun the average reached 700 for each 24 hours.

—PRINT SHOP VOLAPUK.—This is to state that the weather in this has been without in hotness since the morning of together, consequently $8 are few in our office, and we hasten — the opportunity to ask our subscribers (with their $8) to $8 in cash, so we will not have to stand with a in our $8 to keep our creditors away from our personal property.—Latah Times.

Within a few miles of Ashland the great Patrick Henry first saw the light of day, while in the suburbs is the old home of the late Henry Clay. Their old homes are places of much interest to lovers of history and tourists from various parts of the country find time to come here to see them. My sister's home is on the road that was traveled by the renowned Clay when he won the name of "The Mill-boy of the Slashes."

CRAB ORCHARD.

If Stanford wants to dispose of her electric plant and water works, give Crab Orchard the refusal. We go steady onward.

A little child of Mr. Sim Robinson was buried in our cemetery Friday. Mrs. Parsons, of Preachersville, sister of Mrs. Squire Roberts, was buried here last week.

Saturday morning the ordinance of baptism was performed in a most impressive manner by Rev. Briney, when five young members went down into the water. The other candidates will be baptized this week. No date yet given.

Interest continues to grow in the meeting and up to Sunday nine additions were made to the church, seven by confession. The friends of Curtis Egbert were especially rejoiced when he came up and acknowledged his errors and asked the church to help him bury the past and assist him by prayers to lead a different life, and knowing him as we do, we are sure he means just what he says, to show God's people he can yet be a man. We bid him God speed.

—Our Jersey man, Mr. J. E. Carson, had the misfortune to lose one of the finest cows in this section, Lydia D. 43735, on Monday, June 12, from that fatal disease to large milkers, known as milk fever. His only consolation in his great loss is that she left two heifer calves, one a yearling and the other a few days old. Lydia D. had been selected by the American Jersey Cattle Club to participate in the great 30 days' butter test at the World Fair and was to have been shipped this week. Mr. Carson will, however, substitute another in her place.

—Miss Nellie Smith, an attractive young lady from Louisville, is with her cousin, Mrs. J. H. Stephens. Mrs. Dr. Bronaugh with two lovely young ladies, Misses Moran and Whitt, of Madison, are at R. H. Bronaugh's. Pretty Miss Myra Carson, of Louisville, returned from that city with her cousin, Miss Mollie Brooks and is her guest. Jimmie Dillon, of Dillon, is with his cousin, Andrew Dillon. Col. George W. Montgomery, of Tazewell, Tenn., H. M. Carr, of Cumberland Gap, and Wyley Cloud, of Hamilton Springs, Tenn., all splendid legal lights, were here on the 17th on business. Mrs. Carter, of Rowland, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Gover. Little Margaret Woods James, the sweet little baby girl of the late Rev. John James, is with her cousin, Miss Annie May Stephens. She is a firm believer in prayer and one rainy day last week, when she had laid out many childish plans for a good time, her aunt, Mrs. Stephens, noticed that she must be real serious and believe that her prayers are being heard and will be answered, she looked very thoughtful for a moment, then her brow suddenly cleared up and she took Annie May by the hand saying, "Come on, let's go play." When it ceased raining she seemed perfectly satisfied that it was in answer to her prayer.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

A careful estimate shows that 18,773 children attend Sunday-school in Louisville.

—Rev. P. W. Johnson will preach at the Methodist church at 11 o'clock next Sunday morning, Rev. W. E. Arnold being absent on a visit to relatives in Illinois.

A recent estimate puts the Protestants of the world at 137,000,000. The Methodists lead with 25,000,000, the Presbyterians have 20,000,000 and the Baptists 17,000,000.

—J. W. Masters, of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., put off accepting Christ till on his death bed and when it was too late for him to be baptized. He asked, however, that it be done after his death, and agreeably to his wish, his corpse was put under the water by the Rev. W. Drennon in the presence of a large crowd.

—A glance into some of our weekly prayer meetings suggests that the following announcement made by a mountain minister at the close of a Sunday sermon might be in order: "I am compelled to announce, brothers and sisters, that our regular Wednesday evening prayer-meeting will not be held this week. I shall be on hand, of course, but the janitor will be unavoidably absent that evening, and it takes two to make a prayer-meeting. We will sing the doxology and be dismissed."

—The Midway Clipper says that the board of Foreign Missions of the Southern Presbyterian Church has notified Rev. A. S. Moffett, who was appointed missionary to Brazil, that owing to a shortage of $10,000 in the collections for mission work last year, and the recent appointment of a number of missionaries who would be less expensive in the foreign field than he, it was thought wise by the board to postpone his going indefinitely. This action of the board, while a disappointment to Mr. Moffett, was gracefully submitted to by him; and it is needless to say the members of his congregation and many friends in the community are very glad to have him remain with them.

—The Beautiful Spring has Come, and with it that tired, languid feeling. It shows the poor condition of the blood and the general run-down system needs building up. You need a blood purifier and tonic. Stockton's Antiseptic will cure you. Take it.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Next Monday is county court day. The wheat crop in Garrard is said to be better than usual.

—J. Roe Young, a former Lancaster man, has been appointed an Indian agent.

—Capt. Herndon says that the Lancaster preachers are all right, if they would just let whisky alone.

—A post-office has been established at Teasersville, Garrard county, and William Simpson appointed postmaster.

—The merchants have all agreed to close their business houses next Saturday and get out and hustle for the temperance cause.

—A fellow came through town last week and supplied 15 or 20 dudes with $7 cottonade suits. They are now breaking hearts by the wholesale.

—No one in Garrard has announced himself as a candidate for the Legislature so far, as all are convinced that the present session will never adjourn.

—While in Stanford last week we met our friend Col. E. H. Gaither, of Harrodsburg. He is colonel of the 2d regiment of the Kentucky State Guards, which is the best regiment in the State, and the one which is always called upon in time of trouble. Col. Gaither told us that the entire State Guard would be ordered into a camp of instruction at Bowling Green during the month of August. If the remaining regiments were under the command of so excellent an officer as Col. Ed Gaither, the Kentucky troops would rank second to none in the United States.

—Interest continues to grow in the meeting and up to Sunday nine additions were made to the church, seven by confession. The friends of Curtis Egbert were especially rejoiced when he came up and acknowledged his errors and asked the church to help him bury the past and assist him by prayers to lead a different life, and knowing him as we do, we are sure he means just what he says, to show God's people he can yet be a man. We bid him God speed.

—Our Jersey man, Mr. J. E. Carson, had the misfortune to lose one of the finest cows in this section, Lydia D. 43735, on Monday, June 12, from that fatal disease to large milkers, known as milk fever. His only consolation in his great loss is that she left two heifer calves, one a yearling and the other a few days old. Lydia D. had been selected by the American Jersey Cattle Club to participate in the great 30 days' butter test at the World Fair and was to have been shipped this week. Mr. Carson will, however, substitute another in her place.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, LADIES' SLIPPERS.

—The interest in the local option fight increases as the time approaches when the election is to be held. The temperance forces are led by the pastors of the different churches, backed by the anti-liquor league, the W. C. T. U. and by many influential citizens in the town and country. Services are held every night at the court-house and during this week will be held every day at the various school-houses in the county. Elder Hendricks, of Danville, addressed the people at the court-house on Friday and Sunday afternoons. On Monday night Rev. J. L. McKee, D. D., of Danville, and on Tuesday night Dr. Worrall, of Danville; on Wednesday night Rev. Sizemore, of Stanford will speak at the court-house. On Saturday night the people of Lancaster were addressed at the court-house by Gen. Landrum, Capt. Herndon, R. H. Tomlinson, L. F. Hubbell and Letcher Owlesley. The temperance people, while sanguine, are nevertheless working with extraordinary energy and zeal. What the other side are doing is not known, as they appear to keep their own counsel and as the saying goes, "Say nothing and saw wood."

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., JUNE 20, 1893

W. P. WALTON.EIGHT : PAGES.
EVERY FRIDAY.

A WORLD of fearful warning lies in the fate of Mack Ferrell, now under conviction for life for murder. Born of good parents, favored with a bright mind and a perfect form, he might have risen to adorn any station, but he neglected the teachings of his good mother, sought evil companions, tarried long at the wine cup and tried to live on the precarious earnings of the card table. Those who have watched his course have predicted for a long time what the outcome would be and their prophecy has alas been too fully fulfilled. The beloved son, the companionable and promising young man, is now, when scarcely past his majority, condemned to spend all the years of his life shut up in prison walls, a fate even worse, if possible, than that he barely escaped. The horrors of this living death are almost beyond comprehension and the power of words to portray. It is bad enough for an older man, steeped in crime, to have to spend his remaining years in a dungeon. It is almost heart-rending to think of what might have been a useful career cut short in its prime and doomed to imprisonment that shall only end in death, for the perpetration of a crime which, to be as charitable as possible, we shall say was at least uncalculated and unnecessary. Young man, we mean you who think it manly to drink whisky, play cards and carry a pistol, consider the example you are emulating. Let the fate of poor Mack Ferrell, who having sown the wind must reap the whirlwind, deter you from following in his footsteps. You may enjoy the pleasures of such sin for a season, you may think you are making a reputation for certain people to admire, but the end will come sooner or later and you will go down to disgrace and death, for it is written that such are the wages of sin and the devil always keeps his promise in this regard.

The capital removal question has been settled so far as this Legislature is concerned and we hope for all time to come. It has been the fruitful source of much loss of money to the State, as perhaps about a fourth of each session for years has been devoted to the question, which ever and anon, though forced down each time in favor of Frankfort, would bob up as serenely as if nothing had happened. In the first round Lexington received 28 votes, Louisville 22, Bowling Green 14 and Danville 10. The latter was dropped and on the second ballot Lexington received 31 votes, Louisville 29 and Bowling Green 16, and on the final vote Lexington got 36 and Louisville 38. This was the preliminary skirmish to see which city should contest with Frankfort and Louisville being chosen, the battle began. Louisville laid the tempting offer of $1,000,000 before the solons, but it was no good, for when the vote came Frankfort showed up with 46 votes and Louisville but 37. The Frankfort people went wild and say that the members can have the city and more as long as they stay there, which means, of course, an increase in the length of the stay, now past all endurance of the tax payers. The constitution-makers wisely provided that this Legislature might remove the capitol, if it thought proper, but that the question of removal could only be determined by constitutional amendment after that. The slow processes by which an amendment can be made insures the almost permanent location of the capital at Frankfort and nearly relegates the question from discussion. Let the next man to mention the subject be ducked in some of the beautiful ponds of filth that abound in the classic precincts of "Craw," and drowned without the benefit of clergy.

The Supreme Court of the United States has declared that the Federal Government has no right to close the World's Fair on Sunday and the injunction granted by the circuit court at Chicago was lifted. This remands the case back to the lower court and practically ends the matter, since an appeal to the Supreme Court could not be acted on before the Fair finally closes. The Sabatarians will kick, but it will be like the performance of Saul, spoken of in Acts 26:14. After all there are a great many things worse than keeping the Fair open on Sundays and we advise the over zealous to now turn their attention to them.

KANSAS is now organizing Graduated Estate Clubs for the purpose of educating the people in a new method of raising revenue and at the same time strike a blow at concentrated wealth. It is proposed to raise $2,000,000 by a graduated income tax and thus reduce the taxation now paid by poor people.

The Richmond Register and the Junction City Times are exchanging compliments, which bids fair to end in the shedding of buckets of "bloody gore." We hope the J. C. man will catch it in the neck for printing such an unconscionable and unreasonable fabrication on us.

WILLING always to give the devil his due, we rise to remark that the present Legislature is deserving of praise for one thing at least. It has fixed the salary of the governor at $6,500, with no perquisites, though he is allowed the use of the mansion without charge. This is an increase of salary, but a cutting off of perquisites, which will save the tax payer from $2,000 to $3,000 a year. This saving alone will pay for the cost of the present session in 300 years and we ought to be thankful even for small favors.

It is stated that the president has tendered the Hawaiian Mission to Gov. J. Proctor Knott, who was to have answered yesterday. In selecting Kentucky's ex-governor to fill the important position, the president, as usual, shows horse sense, for Gov. Knott's abilities are of the order to make the appointment peculiarly proper.

EDITOR R. W. KNOTT, of the Post, refers to his old partner in sin on the Courier-Journal as "John" W. Hopper. What's the matter with Jim? That's the name we have always known him by and it fits him much better than the one attempted to be put on him at this late day in his useful career.

NEWSY NOTES.

The Ohio democratic convention to nominate a State ticket meets in Cincinnati August 9 and 10.

The president yesterday appointed Powers in the 2d and Johnson in the 5th district to be collectors.

Sixty-seven clerks have been discharged from the general land office on account of decreased appropriations.

The Maryland peach crop is all right. It is well to stop in the burly-bury of life to contemplate such an agreeable fact.

The saw mill of the Beattyville Lumber Company, at Beattyville, was destroyed by fire. Loss $35,000; insurance, $5,820.

Editor Tobias Gibson was defeated for the nomination for Representative of Woodford by T. M. Field, who beat him 170 votes.

Coney Island, N. Y., has had another big fire. A whole block of houses was burned and one man suffered a horrible death.

Cadet Shelton, of Kentucky, is given the place of honor, at the head of his class of 85 members at West Point, for the best examination.

C. F. Clay, of Bourbon, lost two daughters from inflammation of the stomach in less than four days, Misses Sadie, 17, and Nannie, 20.

The governor has fixed Aug. 11 as the day upon which Henry Hall, the Pike county fraticide, shall do the trap-eze act with the rope around his neck.

Farmer Mulligan, who was to have stretched hemp at Paducah next Tuesday for oxen, has been granted a respite till Aug. 25, so as to further test his sanity.

The six Wright brothers were standing under a tree near Adrian, Mo., when lightning killed four of them outright and injured the other two so that they may die.

Hon. Richard H. Hanson, of Paris, a brother of the late Hon. Roger W. Hanson and one of the most prominent men of Central Kentucky, died at his home Saturday.

Mrs. Julia Voss, who shot a man at Covington because, she says, he insulted her, was given six months in jail and fined $300. The jury evidently didn't believe her story.

During the past 12 months our merchandise exports have decreased $174,610,700 and imports increased $108,053,168, while our net loss of gold during the same period is $12,426,728.

At a meeting of the Louisville Board of Trade a resolution calling upon the Representatives and Senators in Congress to repeal the Sherman silver act was unanimously adopted.

The owner of the New York World, Joseph Pulitzer, has given Columbia College $100,000 to endow a preparatory school for poor boys ambitious for the advantages of a college education.

The L. & N. brakeman who kicked a tramp from a moving train and caused his death, has been captured and lodged in jail at Louisville, where an indictment for murder will be prosecuted against him.

The L. & N. and the C. & O. were indicted at Maysville for not complying with the corporation law by filing with the Secretary of State a statement giving the names of officers on whom process can be served and the location of said officers.

At Leavenworth, Kas., A. S. Arnold shot and fatally wounded his wife and then killed himself. Arnold was well-known in Louisville. Drink and gambling caused his downfall, and after several escapades with women he married the one he killed.

The only woman delegate in attendance at the meeting of the International Typographical Union at Chicago, Miss Belle Pierson, of New Albany, Ind., quit the hall because the convention refused to vote the same scale of wages for women as for men and she was right.

Rev. John T. Yates, a Methodist preacher located in Crittenden County, has been disbarred his sacred functions by a decisive vote. The charge was immorality, which consisted of being too intimate with the sisters, especially for a man with a worthy wife and three children.

The towns of Virginia and Mountain Iron, Minn., and Iron River, Wis., have been destroyed by forest fires. Over 2,000 people in Virginia are without food and shelter.

There was a very small crowd at Danville court yesterday, the farmers being very busy. Only about 25 cattle were offered. A lot of 1,200-pounders were withdrawn at 4:00.

A country dance at the home of Casper Hartlage, nine miles from Louisville, ended in a riot and murder Saturday night. Railroad men ranged themselves against the farmers, and a fusillade was fired in the darkened room. John Sheeley was killed, and his brother, Jacob, fatally wounded. Jacob Nagle, who fired the shot that killed Sheeley, was carried off by his friends, wounded.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

Weston Gilbert, of Louisville, aged 22, is a youth of unusual recklessness. He eloped Saturday with his step-mother and her six children.

Minnie Palmer, the beautiful little actress, is suing her husband, "Yours Merrily John R. Rogers," for divorce, alleging that he is far from being true to her.

The Somerset Reporter tells of the marriage of Miss Josie Foster, daughter of Col. Wm. Foster, late of this place, to T. D. Thomas, a young Englishman engaged in W. C. Davis' tailoring establishment.

Invitations have been received to the marriage of Miss Ruth Belle, the handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. DePauw, to Mr. Nelson Wingate May, which will occur in the Junction City Christian church at 12:30, June 21.

James Bewick, a widower of 33, and Mrs. Mamie Hodges, a pretty little widow with a blue-grass farm and only 22, united their destinies last Friday, considered usually as an unlucky day, but let us hope it will not prove so in this instance.

Robert Bradley Morrow, a son of Judge T. Z. Morrow, was married last week to Miss Emily Smith, of Somerset. A handsome reception was given at Judge Morrow's in their honor. Mr. Morrow is a promising young druggist and his bride is said to be a very lovable young lady.

Saturday Mr. Johannes Klok, a recent importation from the Faderland, went to County Clerk G. B. Cooper and said he would like to get a permit to marry comely little Karolina Lidi, also from Germany. Mr. Cooper is always accommodating, but is especially so in such cases as this as a great big round dollar and a half is certain for a minute's work and he pleasantly asked when the marriage was to occur. "Oh, any time soon," was the response in broken English and being unable to get any further satisfaction in the matter, the clerk fixed July 15 as the day upon which the trouble shall begin.

DANVILLE.

Riley Masterson, firing a pistol, $12.60; Berry Johnson and Jim Kendrick, $7.60 each for drunkenness were police court cases Monday.

Judge W. E. Varnon, of Stanford, was in town Saturday evening and first brought the news of the verdict in the Ferrel-Engleman murder case.

B. H. Perkins, who has been living in Middleboro for some months past, was here several days this week. He thinks the Magic City is slowly but surely accumulating more magic.

Mr. Edward Mann and Miss Maud Minor, accompanied by Mr. Jno. Murphy and Miss Minnie Mann, waked up Elder J. L. Brewer at 11 o'clock Friday night and were married. All parties reside near Junction City.

The wonderful petrified Spanish desperado, "Chavez," has been on exhibition here for several days. A colored person with a banjo discourses able music at the door and will "parse" you into the tent for 10c, or one dime.

Miss Onie French, daughter of H. W. French, died Saturday at 7 p.m. of lung disease. She had been a long and patient sufferer. The funeral took place Sunday evening at 4 o'clock. Services by Rev. J. W. Lynch, of the Baptist church.

Dr. Fayette Dunlap returned from St. Louis Saturday night. He found his uncle, Col. Jas. A. Fisher, in a very feeble condition. He longs for his old home in Danville and will soon be brought here, if it is thought he can stand the journey.

The wills of Miss Lizzie Irvine and Mrs. Mary Young, widow of Judge Young, were ordered to record in the county court Monday. The first leaves her property to Mrs. J. M. Wallace. Mr. J. M. Wallace was appointed administrator with the will annexed. Mrs. Young gave all her property to her daughter, Mrs. Edward Flagg, J. W. Yerkes, administrator.

My entire stock of Walter A. Wood machine repairs can be found at McKinney Bros. Will be sold cheap and for the cash. J. B. Foster.

Wrinkles and hollow cheeks and sunken eyes don't always mean that a woman is old. Hail the time they only show that she's overworked or suffering. To such women to every woman who is tired or afflicted Dr. Pierce's "Presto-cript" safely and easily brings back health and strength. It's a tonic that invigorates and corrects and cures; a tonic that soothes and builds up; a nervine that strengthens and weakens peculiar to women. It is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure you have your money back.

It won't do to experiment with catarrh. There's the constant danger of driving it into the lungs. You can have a perfect and permanent cure with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - JUNE 20, 1893

E. C. WALTON, Bus. Manager

PERSONAL POINTS.

ST. CLAIRE CAMPBELL, of Rockcastle, is here for a few days.

Mrs. C. V. GENTRY has been very ill, but was better yesterday.

Mr. L. C. BOSLEY has returned from his school at Campbellsville.

Miss EDNA COURTS left yesterday to visit relatives in Cincinnati.

Miss MOLLIE WALTER returned Sunday from a visit to her sister in Lexington.

Mrs. J. A. MUDD and children have gone to Hardin county to spend the summer.

MR. AND MRS. J. B. NOOE, of Mercer, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McRoberts.

REV. A. S. MOFFETT and family are visiting their numerous friends in this section.

DR. R. C. MORGAN will be in Hustonville for a week or two to practice his profession.

Mrs. EMILY JONES was called to Pineville Saturday by the illness of her son, E. H. Jones.

CART. W. J. WASH, of the K. C., was over Saturday to conduct the pay train over his road.

MR. AND MRS. SHELBY TEVIS and baby, of Shelby City, have been visiting here.—Woodford Sun.

Mrs. MARY MCKEE, of Danville, who has been visiting Mrs. R. C. Warren, returned home Saturday.

Miss LELIA CLAY ALLEN, who has been attending College, left yesterday for her home at Pewchland, N. C.

Miss ANGIE BALLOU is visiting her sister, Miss Ellen, at Mrs. J. M. Richardson's.—Somerset Reporter.

MR. J. G. WETHERFORD, the Hustonville druggist, was here Saturday and left his order for a big job of printing.

In our list of Mexican veterans we failed to include Gen. Wm. Burton, who fought, bled and died some 46 years ago.

MR. M. E. LORD, of Louisville, came up Friday night and took home his wife and baby, who have been at Mrs. Burks' for a month.

Mrs. GEO. BANKS, of Hillsboro, Texas, who was the charming Miss Mary Fogle, of Lebanon, is on a visit to Mrs. H. J. McRoberts.

Mrs. J. R. MOUNT and children, of LaGrange, who have been visiting her father, Mr. J. M. McRoberts, Jr., will return home to-day.

Mrs. J. W. BLACK and Mr. F. M. Hinckle, of Nicholas and Bourbon counties respectively, are visiting their nephew, Rev. W. E. Arnold.

MISS MATTIE GANO ROCHESTER will entertain next Friday evening from 8 to 12 in honor of Miss Mary Lee Rochester of Independence, Mo.

Miss ANGIE BALLOU, a member of the faculty of the school at Clifton Forge, Va., returned home Saturday, after a visit to the Worlds Fair.

Miss ANNIE DICKINSON, a lovely young lady from Glasgow, returned home Friday, after a pleasant visit to Misses Nedlie and Lizzie Slavemaker.

Miss MAGGIE LEWIS has again been chosen to teach the Buckeye school and she and her sister, Miss Bettie, went over yesterday to see about opening it.

MR. AND MRS. T. F. SPINK, of Needles, Cal., arrived Friday and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hail. It is their first visit since their marriage in April of last year.

The friends of Mr. W. R. Hijl, formerly clerk in the office at Rowland, will be glad to hear that he is now chief clerk in the office of the L. St. L & T. at Owensboro.

MR. J. E. FLORENCE was here last week taking great interest in the movement to restore Rowland to its former railroad importance. He has a number of houses there.

Mrs. JULIA DUNN, after an absence of three years in Wichita, Kas., where she has been teaching music, arrived Friday and is with her sister, Mrs. J. E. Bruce. The West has evidently agreed with her, as she is looking remarkably well.

Jos. BARKER and Jerry Smith spent Sunday at McKinney, visiting the future Mrs. Barker and Mrs. Smith, so rumor has it. Jos and Jerry are excellent and worthy young men and would make ideal husbands.—Jellico, Tenn., Advance-Sentinel.

Misses LOUIS TIPTON and Gertrude Howard, who have filled positions in the College faculty for three years, most creditably to themselves and satisfactorily to the president and patrons, left yesterday for Miss Tipton's home at Dyersburg, Tenn. Both are charming young ladies and they go away assured that more friends regret their determination not to return as teachers than they have any idea of. But for the lingering hope that they may return in some other capacity there would be several disconsolate hearts which would refuse to be comforted.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Buggy tops re-covered and repaired by DeNardi, the carriage and sign painter.

Don't forget the Lincoln County Fair, July 27 and 28. Also bear in mind the $300 saddle purse and the several rich sweepstakes rings.

KEEP your eye on Danks, the jeweler.

DR. APLEMAN will be here to-day, remember.

BINDER twine for sale cheap. J. H. Baughman.

MACHINE OIL and binder twine at A. Warren's.

Five different sizes Leonard ice chests. Will save you 200 per cent. of your ice bill. W. H. Wearen & Co.

We are authorized by J. A. Givens to say that he is a candidate for the democratic nomination for sheriff.

JOHN B. MERRISON, a life-long democrat and a good man for the place, is a candidate for jailer. He would greatly appreciate your assistance.

ALL the persons engaged in gambling at the time Sam Engleman was killed have been indicted and are paying up $20 and costs as fast as they can, glad to get off so easily.

The wheat crop is good, the clover meadows were never better and the corn crop has started off splendidly. At present the farmers do not seem to have the slightest reason for grumbling.

The Richmond street car line has proven a financial failure and it was sold last week, says the Register, by order of court. Billy Devore was the purchaser at $5,200. It originally cost $15,000.

To LOUISVILLE and RETURN for $1.50—Stanford people are notified that an excursion train will be run from Harrodsburg to Louisville Thursday, June 29, leaving at 8:15 A. M. Fare to Louisville and return only $1.50.

In our report of the Mexican Veteran meeting the next place of meeting was stated to be Harrodsburg, when Lawrenceburg was selected. The time is a day to be fixed by the committee between the 1st and 15th of September.

Supt. W. F. McClary gives notice that the White Teachers' Institute will be held here Aug. 7 and continue five days. The law requires that each teacher shall attend during the entire session, the superintendent having no right to excuse anyone.

If what we hear from Lancaster be true, the local optimists seem to have their fight already won. There is no doubt that a majority of the best citizens are opposed to a return of the license system and we trust they will be able to demonstrate it at the polls.

The Truth Schottische, dedicated to the Louisville Truth, is the latest musical production of that rising young composer, Mr. C. W. Kremer, of New Albany, Ind., to whom we are indebted for a copy. Mr. Kremer married Miss Lida Harris, formerly of this place.

Gen. HOBSON, who made a reputation as a fighter in two wars, was much pleased with his reception here. Of the 26 Mexican veterans who met here, all are democrats but him and Gen. Landram, and they were honored with the highest offices in the gift of the association. The war seems to be over.

M. F. ELKIN is formally announced for assessor in this issue. Fully capable to discharge the duties of the office and being a democrat good and true, his friends are confident that the people will decide, when they know what manner of man he is, that he is the right man for the place, now so eagerly sought after.

The Lancaster kids came over Friday with haughty mein and triumphant air, which indicated that they thought it a very easy task to "wipe up the yearth" with the Stanford kids, but it is well they exulted before the game, as they had no chance afterwards. They are a great big set of fellows, but they could not play ball equal to our little boys, who vanquished them just as easy, 21 to 14, without playing their last inning.

Some 20 young people stormed Miss Alice Drye and Helen Taylor, who were visiting at Mr. G. B. Cooper's, Friday night and had the biggest kind of a time. Mrs. Cooper did not hear of the proposed onslaught till a late hour, but she was equal to the occasion and had a nice lunch prepared, which was handsomely served and greatly enjoyed. A feature of it was watermelons, the first of the season, and the way the youngsters went for them was a caution. This was the third entertainment that the kid crowd had enjoyed during the week. They seem to be taking the day now while the older set occupies the rear.

Miss HOST P. W. GREEN, of the Myers House, doesn't intend to have any gamblers about his establishment, if he can help it. Without saying a word to him a young man took a party into one of his rooms the other day and opened up a game. They were discovered when a guest was assigned to the room and they took a hasty exit. The porter only recognized one and when he next appeared in the hotel Mr. Green gave him some pretty straight talk and ended by slapping his jaws and kicking him out of the house. The young man picked himself up and went away breathing threatenings and slaughter, but it was all bluster, as he evidently knows enough to appreciate when he is well off, and has made himself scarce around the premises since.

ROWLAND looks as dead as a door nail. Its glory has departed and unless the shops are returned, the employees who have saved up and bought little homes will hardly be able to give them away.

CIRCUIT COURT is petering out so far as Commonwealth's business is concerned. Col. Wm. Herndon occupied the bench yesterday, because Judge Saufley was of counsel in several cases to be disposed of.

ANOTHER man wants to be assessor, and he is no less than the capable, honest and clever John Bright, a democrat and a gentleman of the old school. He'd make a capital one, we make bold to say, without fear of successful contradiction.

FOR MURDER.—Marshal Newland arrested one Boruff in the Deep Well Woods Sunday night, wanted for murder at Maynardville, Tenn., and lodged him in jail. He killed a boy, but claims it was done in self defense when he attacked him for telling that he played cards.

WHEN Col. Welch asked Judge Cardwell, of Harrodsburg, who was testifying against the good standing of his late fellow citizen, Mr. James Wickersham, if the morals of his town were not rather below par and he replied "not more so than in Stanford," some one started a cheer, which seemed to be participated in pretty largely. Judge Saufley grew very indignant at this contempt offered his court and threatened to send any man engaged in it to jail if he could find out who was guilty.

"It is d-d hot." Those are the words said to have been used by the late Henry Ward Beecher as he entered his pulpit one sultry July Sunday. At first his hearers could not believe their ears, but when after a pause and with deliberation he again uttered them, the effect may be imagined. We shall not attempt to describe it. He then went on to say that a profane individual had uttered those words in his hearing as he came into church and then he opened up on the sin of profanity and preached such a sermon on it as those who heard it will never forget. But we degress. We started to write of the weather and it was really to express the actual state of heat that we began this paragraph with the quotation. It has been very warm for several days and it is getting quite dry and dusty. "Is this hot enough for you?" has several times been hurled at our defenseless head, making us agree with the poet who wrote: "As a rule, man's a fool; when it's hot he wants it cool. Always wanting what is not; never liking what he's got. I maintain, as a rule, man's a fool."

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.—A court-house full of people, composed of the representative men of Stanford and Rowland, responded to the call for a meeting Friday night to take action on the question of the removal of the L. & N. shops from Rowland. Mr. Joseph Severance, Sr., called the assemblage to order and suggested nominations for chairman. Col. W. G. Welch was proposed and elected and W. P. Walton was, on motion, made secretary, with Joe Severance, Jr., as assistant. On taking the chair Col. Welch stated the object of the meeting and called for suggestions as to the best methods to secure the end desired. Mr. Harvey Helm thought that if the company had fully decided to permanently remove the shops from Rowland that it would be better to take steps to induce manufacturers to locate here. Mr. Paxton moved to appoint a committee to confer with L. & N. officials and H. J. Darst suggested the appointment of a number of committees. It was finally agreed that the substitute of W. H. Miller be adopted, which was that a committee be appointed, composed of three citizens of Rowland and two of Stanford, with the chairman of this meeting to be chairman of the committee, to ascertain the loss that will accrue to the railroad employees who have been induced to build homes at Rowland and to others, who have assisted in building up the town, and present it with any other suggestions that it may have, to an adjourned meeting to be held at the same place this Tuesday night. The Rowland people selected Isaac Hamilton, T. L. Shelton and J. W. Flowers, and after a number of Stanford people had been suggested, Mr. Severance said that Messrs. W. H. Miller and A. C. Sine were better posted than any other two men he knew on the question and on his motion they were chosen to represent Stanford. The committee is also to prepare a memorial to the president of the L. & N., Mr. M. H. Smith, and present it to him in person, at which time it will also lay before him whatever inducements that can be offered to induce a change of the present plans for removal. After the appointment of the committee Mr. Miller addressed the meeting and when he had concluded, it adjourned till to-night.

The usual methods of such cases will be observed. An effort will be made to secure a new trial, on what grounds we have not heard, and failing in that, an appeal will be taken to the highest court. That tribunal having adjourned for the summer, no action can be taken should the case be taken up before September, so in no event will the prisoner be taken to the penitentiary before fall.

Great interest was manifested in the trial, the court-house being filled with people all the time, many of them ladies. Much sympathy is felt for the poor mother, sister and brothers, Tom and Bright Ferrell, all of whom seem utterly cast down at the fate that his overtake them much loved son and brother.

We have the kindest feeling toward all the parties affected by the terrible affair and for the prisoner himself we cherish nothing but a feeling of the kindest sympathy. We have never had to write of a murder case in which we had little bias and prejudice as this, the alleged assertion of hired attorneys to the contrary notwithstanding.

WRECK.—Another has been added to the long list of accidents at the Junction City crossing. Yesterday as the north-bound local on the L. & N. was passing No. 1, the south-bound vestibuled limited on the C. S. came dashing in, striking the tender of the L. & N. engine and after tearing it and four cars to pieces, plunged headlong into the platform on the McCollum Hotel side and turned completely over. When his tender was struck, Mr. J. R. Orndorf, familiarly known as "pap," was knocked under the debris and badly wounded in the face, head and back. He was brought here on 23 and was doing well at last account.

The engineer and firemen on the C. S. jumped and were not hurt and none of the cars on the C. S. were materially damaged. The wreck was piled away and it was thought that it would take eight hours to clear it. To save long delay was returned as 23 and ran backwards as far as Rowland, arriving here at 3 o'clock. The engineer of the C. S. claims that his air brakes would not work and that he could not stop his train.

—Harrodsburg will have a fair beginning Sept. 5.

A LIVING DEATH.

Mack Ferrell Condemned to Suffer it for Murdering Sam Engleman.

For LIFE.—To be confined in the penitentiary at hard labor for the rest of his natural life, is what 12 good men and true have pronounced as the penalty Mack Ferrell shall suffer for the murder of Sam Engleman. After four days' trial, during which every point was contested, the case was given to the jury at 2 p. m. Saturday. It retired at once to a room and within 30 minutes the prisoner heard his doom. His ruddy countenance took on an ashen hue for a moment, but it was soon over and the remarkable self-composure which had characterized him through the trial was again manifested. It is reported that a number of the jury were for inflicting the death penalty, but we were unable to substantiate it. The attorneys for the Commonwealth tell us that the instructions were unusually favorable to the defendant, especially as to the real and apparent danger of death or great bodily harm at the time of the killing. At any rate, the trial seems to have been a fair one, and there were few exceptions, if any, taken to the rulings of the judge by the defense.

It is useless for us to go over the testimony again, as its principal points have been given more than once in this paper. Ferrell testified that at the time he shot Engleman he was rising from the card table with a drawn pistol to defend John W. Bright, at whom he (Ferrell) was pointing his own and Bright's pistol, after he had grabbed it from the table, where Bright had laid it down and dared any s-n of a b-h to touch it. This statement was partially corroborated by James Wickersham, who said it was a knife instead of a pistol that Engleman had. But little credence was, however, given Wickersham's statements by the jury, as the Commonwealth introduced Judge T. M. Cardwell, Representative E. H. Gaither, Marshal Smith and others to show that his origin and reputation were not such as conducted to truthfulness, to express it mildly.

None of the Commonwealth's witnesses saw Engleman attempt to rise, except Tom Hurley, who said he was backing his chair as if to do so. The prosecution showed that the ball had entered Engleman's head on the right side and passing through,

When we shall meet!

All the glad hills shall glow with green
And all the rivers wild and fleet,
Shall sing their way through that sweet day
When we shall meet.

But till that day I kneel and pray
That God of his great love and sweet,
Shall bless my tender life alway,
Till we shall meet.

To Catherine.

I know that day will be bright
As God can make it, and as sweet;

That day of perfect love and light,
When we shall meet!

All the glad hills shall glow with green
And all the rivers wild and fleet,
Shall sing their way through that sweet day
When we shall meet.

But till that day I kneel and pray
That God of his great love and sweet,
Shall bless my tender life alway,
Till we shall meet.

To Catherine.

I know that day will be bright
As God can make it, and as sweet;

That day of perfect love and light,
